Who is responsible for processing data in the Website?

The controller of your personal data is AMB BV, Meibloempjeslaan6 0302 8400 Oostende, Belgium.

What kind of data do we collect?

- o When you use our services in the Website, we collect, among others: IP addresses, URL, name of your internet service provider, information about your operating system and your browser type and version;

- o When you order a service with the form in the Website, we also collect your name, surname, email address, phone number and any other data you provide.

How do we collect data?

- o Using cookies;

- o From the form on the Website.

- o From the registration for the course.

What do we use your data for?

- o For analytical purposes to improve the quality of the Website;

- o For developing, repairing or testing various functionalities of the Website;

- o For performing the service ordered with the form available in the Website.

What is the purpose of processing your data when you order the service?

Your personal data will be processed in order to:

- o Conclude the contract and perform the services ordered, including in connection with correspondence (Article 6(1)b GDPR);

- o Issue and send invoices or fiscal receipts, keep accounting books and tax documentation, fulfil legal obligations mandatory for the Controller (Article 6(1)c GDPR);

o Pursue claims for business operations, defend against these claims, as well as perform direct marketing of own products and services, as part of the legitimate interest of the controller (Article 6(1)f) GDPR);

o In the event of consent to forward marketing content to your phone number and/or email address (Article 6(1)a) GDPR).

How can you control the data you provide?

o You have the right to access information about you that we store in the Website.

o At your request, we will provide you with a copy of your data that we process.

o You have the right to request the rectification (correction, supplementation) of your data processed in the Website, limitation of their processing or deletion.

o You have the right to object to the use of data for market research and opinion, analysis and monitoring in the Website.

o You have the right to request the transfer of data that we process, ie you can receive it in a structured, commonly used machine-readable format, and you have the right to send this data to another administrator. If it is technically possible, you have the right to request that personal data be sent by us directly to another controller.

To exercise the above rights, you can contact us as stated below.

Who can be the recipient of the data you provide?

o The recipients of your personal data can only be entities that are entitled to receive them by law. In addition, your data may be made available to law firms, accounting firms, as well as museums and other entities providing services directly on your behalf.

o Your data will not be disclosed to a third country or an international organization.

How long do we process your personal data?

o Your personal data will be stored for the duration of the contract, and then for the period stated by tax and accounting regulations. In connection with the pursuit of claims, the data may be stored until they expire, but not longer than 3 years. Data obtained on the basis of consent is stored until consent is withdrawn.

Is it necessary for you to provide personal data?

o Providing personal data is voluntary, however, if you do not provide it, it will not be possible to achieve for you the purposes of processing related to the performance of the contract or issue invoice. Providing data for marketing purposes is voluntary, and failure to provide them, including failure to consent, does not affect the manner of achieving other processing purposes.
